

PARENTS,

do you know that your child's confidential and personal records are being shared with a corporation and put on a data "cloud"? And that this corporation, called inBloom Inc., intends to share the information with vendors to help them develop and market their "learning products?"

The data will include your child's name, address, email, test scores, racial, economic and special education status. And may include detailed disciplinary and health records as well.

Find out more about this plan from advocates and NY State and NYC education officials.

Come to this important Town Hall Meeting at:

Brooklyn Borough Hall

209 Joralemon Street

Monday, April 29th
6 p.m.

(Take the #4 or 5 Trains to Boro Hall, #2, 3, or R to Court Street, or the A, C or F Trains to Jay Street/Boro Hall)

Invited guests include officials from the NYS Education Department, the NYC Department of Education, the Gates Foundation, inBloom Inc., and the NY State Board of Regents.

Co-Sponsored By:
(List in formation)

Co-sponsored by the Brooklyn Parent Academy, Assemblymembers Danny O'Donnell, James Brennan, William Colton; NYS Senators Liz Krueger and Martin Golden; NYC Public Advocate Bill de Blasio, NYC Council Education Chair Robert Jackson, Council Members Gale Brewer and Leticia James; Class Size Matters, the Learning Disabilities Association of NY, Community Education Councils of Districts 1, 3, 13, 14, 15, 20, 21, 22 and the Citywide Council for Special Education, Alliance for Quality Education, Coalition for Educational Justice, and Urban Youth Collaborative.

The event will be livestreamed at <http://www.stopmotionsolo.tv>
